

WASHINGTON, D. C., SEPTEMBER 3, 1916.

Supplies arriving at American camp at Colonia Dublan, Mex. The supplies are distributed from here to the smaller camps.

Copyright, 1916, Underwood & Underwood.

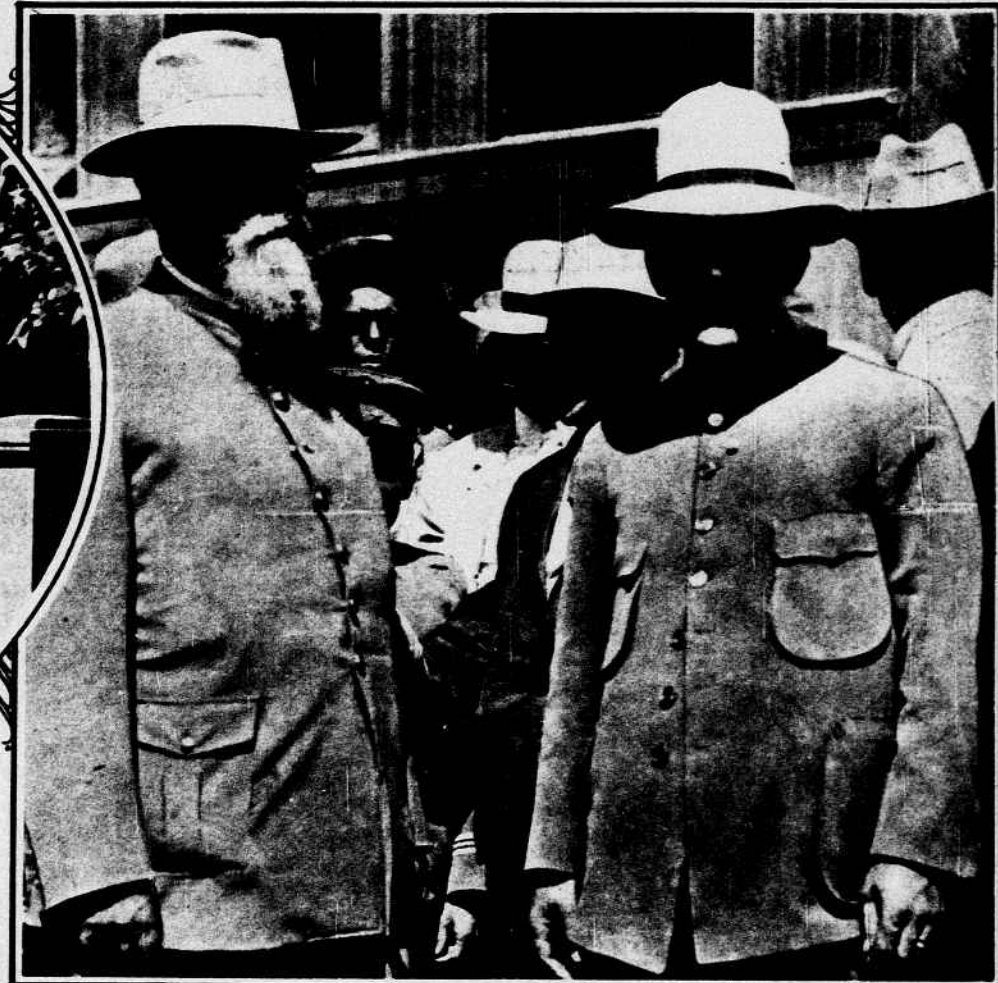

Copyright, 1916, International Film.

James B. Bean, United States customs officer, who took a prominent part in the fight with Mexican bandit who attacked Fort Hancock.

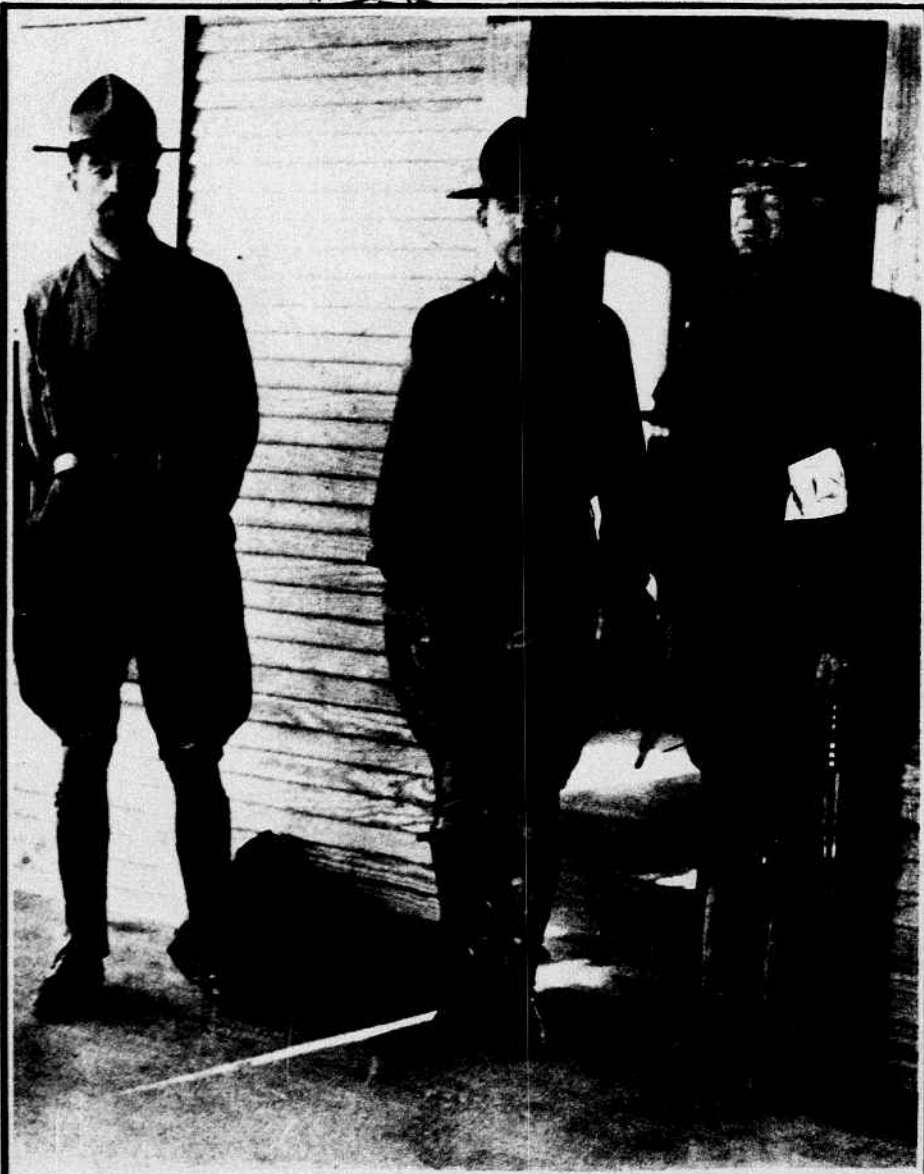

Officers of the National Guard sent to the Brownsville section of the border entertained at the Brownsville Country Club.

Copyright, 1916, International Film.

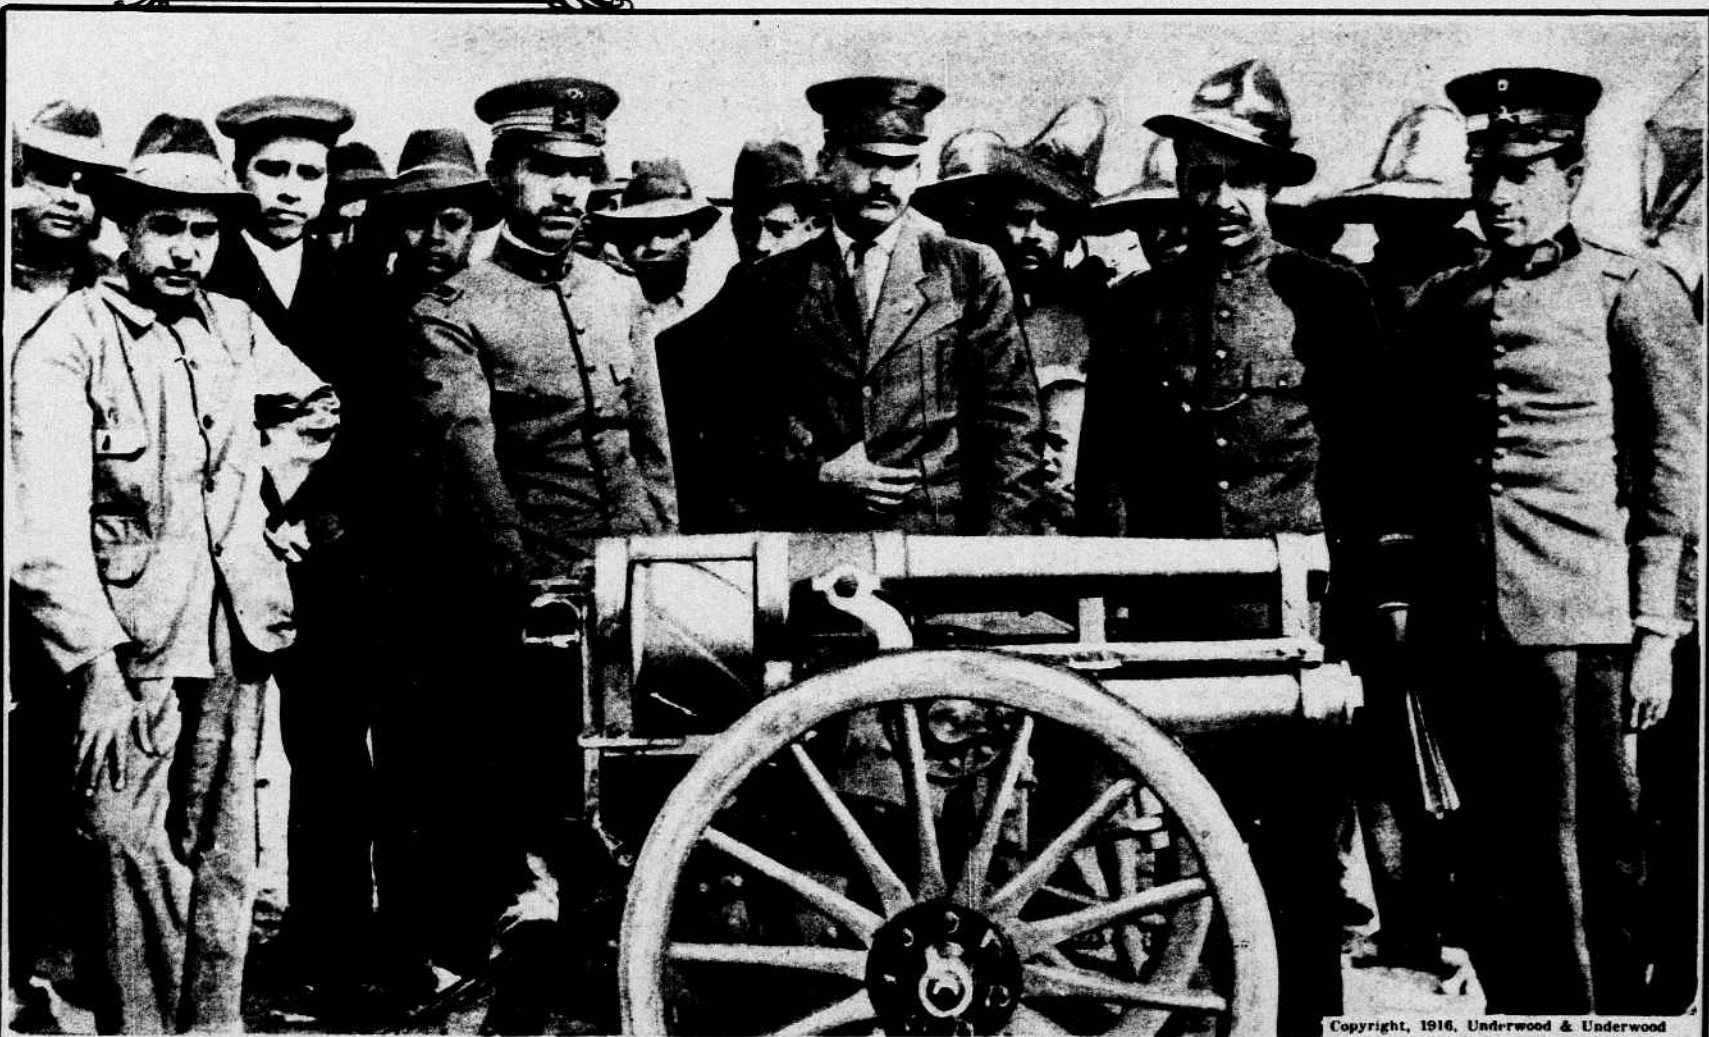

First Chief Carranza and Gen. Pablo Gonzales. Copyright, 1916, International Film.

In command of the Empire state contingent on the border. Left to right: Maj. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Gen. J. F. O'Ryan, commanding officer, and Brig. Gen. George Dyer.

Copyright, 1916, International Film.

Copyright, 1916, Underwood & Underwood.

New Mexican revolver cannon. It can shoot thirty four-inch shells a minute. The gun weighs 700 pounds.